THAT STOLEN STATE.

General Nathan Goff was elected governor of West Virginia last November. The returns showed it and the people know it. But the returns were challenged, and a legislative committee was appointed to sift the returns. Of course, as the legislature had a democratic majority, there was a democratic majority on the committee. They were appointed nominally to sift the returns and admit those that were correct. Really they were appointed to throw out enough Goff ballots to elect Fleming, the democratic nominee.

The committee has completed its work. The result was a foregone conclusion, and it is a rather ridiculous proceeding for the committee to have taken so long about it. They have made a great parade of impartiality, rejecting here and there a few votes for Fleming, but taking care to reject enough Goff ballots to destroy the republican majority. Of the action of this committee Gen. Goff says:

"The action of this legislative committee one of the most high handed crimes against the sanctity of the ballot and election returns in our political history. I do not think that American politics in its most corrupt days furnished a parallel. That such a scheme of fraud could be carried out in these days of public intelligence and political independence is amazing, and will be resented by the people of West Virginia."

He says further that he cannot believe that the legislature, when the report of the committee is presented, will consent to consummate the outrage. He has more faith in the legislature than we have. The democratic majority will not stop at anything to accomplish its end, if it is like any other democratic majority we ever heard of.

But next time, we apprehend, there will be a republican majority in West Virginia so large that it cannot, and will not be counted out.

The report of Postmaster-General Wamamker's negotiations with the Western Union looking to the establishment of a postal telegraph system for the whole country, is of so great importance, and at the same time involves arrangements of such obvious difficulty, that it can hardly be discussed intelligently until negotiations have been completed, and the terms of co-operation fixed. At first thought, it seems somewhat doubtful whether any adjustment equitable to the government and beneficial to the telegraph company can be devised. But it appears that the company already has to spend a large sum every year in the delivery of messages, which would be avoided at least in cities where the postal service has a free delivery system, without materially increased expense to the government. On the other hand, in consideration of this reduction in expenses, the telegraph company could obviously afford to make some reduction in its charges for messages forwarded through government officials. If the postmaster-general succeeds in carrying out an arrangement of such importance, it will mark his administration of the department with signal success. At the same time it is proper to remember that all the squint-eyed critics in the country and all the people of microscopic minds will be sure to conclude that the interests of the nation must somehow have been sacrificed in any arrangement whatever between the government and the Western Union.

Boston is to have the first taste, apparently, of an improvement in postal methods for which other large cities have been wishing these many years. This is the establishment of sub-stations for the collection of the bulky packages of third and fourth class matter which cannot be posted in the lamp-post boxes, but which must be carried to a station post-office at a considerable expense of time or money. Under the new plan there will be package stations in drug stores, at news stands and in other public places, the proprietors of which will be paid $100 a year for the service they render. The packages will be collected from these places several times a day by wagon. Boston begins October 1 with fifteen "package stations." Postmaster Corcoran is credited with originating the idea, which Postmaster-General Wamamker likes so well that he is said to be ready to put it into general effect if he can get the necessary appropriation.

The latest great trust organization in England is a bread trust, put on foot by the great baking firms of London. Free trade England is, Mr. Blaine well said during the last campaign, "hitterly plastered over with trusts." There is reason to believe, however, that our muggump and democratic contemporaries are disposed, quite naturally, to lay the entire responsibility for the British trust on the American tariff.

A committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco to investigate the feasibility of laying an ocean telegraph cable from that city to Australia has reported in favor of the project and estimates the cost of a cable line from San Francisco to New Zealand, by way of Honolulu and Tutuila, at $10,000,000.

The Massachusetts third party prohibitionists hold their state convention at Worcester on Wednesday.

Present indications point to the nomination of J. H. Roberts, of Cambridge, and B. F. Sturtevant, of Jamaica Plain, for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor respectively, the rest of the ticket to be the same as last year.

This is the definition of free trade given by Prof. W. D. Wilson, of Cornell University: "Free trade between nations will confer or later bring the price of labor—wages—to the same level the world over, and that level will be the lowest figure to which tyranny and misgovernment can reduce the laborers anywhere."

A state republican league has been organized in North Dakota, consisting at its very inception of more than forty vigorous separate clubs. The republicans of the north west are of the grand old fighting sort.

Wisconsin democratic papers are thus early in the field quarrelling with each other in their mad efforts to nominate a republican state ticket.

Secretary Windom and his family have been traveling through New Hampshire by carriage. On Friday they drove from Keene to Dublin.

The chief reliance of the democratic party is bribery in Ohio, whisky in New York and lawless outrage and brutality in Louisiana.

A BRAVE GIRL.

How She Saved Her Father from the Guerrillas.

The neighborhood of Union Depot, Tenn., was distracted with feuds during the war, says a correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer. Cole, Sams, Ledbetter, and Leith of the Confederate forces, with their partisan bands, ravaged the country from one end to the other, and were met with stern resistance by the Union Home Guards. At the beginning of the hostilities the bridge across the Halston, above Union Depot, was fixed upon for destruction by the Confederate officials. A band of men under Col. Ledbetter was sent up from Knoxville to fire the structure. They arrived in the town just after sunset, and proceeding to the bridge found it guarded by two men. One of these guards ran away when the Confederates began to smear the bridge with coal oil, but the other remained, and shot-gun in hand, opposed the marauders. As they advanced he retreated, fighting them step by step, and several of the guerrillas, shot dead, fell from the bridge into the turbulent stream and were carried on down toward the Tennessee.

Finally the brave defender was overtaken and one of the Confederates, who knew him, cried out, with musket cocked and presented to his heart: "Surrender, or you are a dead man." "Never!" cried the watchman, and he discharged his gun full at the advancing man's heart. The Confederate fell upon the ties, and his body, resting for a moment, finally tumbled into the river below. The burly watchman, grinning empty, and his arms shot away all his ammunition. He clucked his gun, and in the lurid light, already flaring about him from the fired bridge, he faced his enemies, resolute, defiant to the last. The rushed on him and he was overpowered. His gun was wrested from his hands, and a stout rope was wound around his body, fast inclosing his arms. "Will you do with him?" asked the leader.

"He should hang! Hang him!" echoed the chorus. "To the cedar grove!" was the order, and those grim guerrillas, with the bound watchman in their midst, marched back across the bridge, now a sheet of flame, and toward the dense grove of cedars on the ridge beyond. Here they halted, and the leader of the band, addressing the prisoner, said: "If the verdict is the gallows, then you are hanged. Have you anything to say?" "Nothing," was the defiant answer. "You are whelps and I am a union man. Do your worst."

"String him up!" ordered the leader, and a rope was produced and knotted about the patriot's head. He was allowed a minute for prayer and his white lips were instantly voicing a last petition to the great Father when a slender, girlish figure, attired in snowy white, burst through the grim throng and threw her arms about the doomed man's neck. With nervous fingers she unloosed the noose, and, forcing the stern visaged crowd aside, cried out in dauntless indignation: "For shame! You are to die to one, and you would commit murder. This is my father. If you hang him you shall hang me also."

The guerrillas were abashed at this bold defense and for a time said nothing. Finally one man spoke, and he evidently voiced the sentiments of his fellows, for his words were loudly cheered. "Now," said he, "let's adjourn. Jeff Davis is a free man."

"Ayo! ayo!" was the answer, and they slunk away, leaving father and daughter to make their way back to the little town, which now was photographed against the sky's background by the lurid glare of the burning bridge. Father and daughter still live in Union Depot, and every night the brave girl, now a matron with children about her knees, gathers up two bright tin buckets and journeys to the spring below the town, chatting gaily with her neighbor women.

BOTHERED BY WITCHES.

The Strange Hallucination of a Rich Samuel Armstrong, of Wapello, Iowa, 82 years old and possessed of $250,000, is insane and at times so violent that it becomes necessary to confine him. His history has some queer features. For many years he was a prominent and successful contractor in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he accumulated money and invested it in real estate in that city. His largest holdings lay in Greenville, Avondale, and Columbia, Ohio, and they have become very valuable. About a score of years ago, as he was driving away from the place, a man who was trespassing hurried a heavy stone at him. The missile struck him on the back of the head, and from that time on he began to lose his mind. While this insanity was coming on, and before it had proceeded so far as to call for interference in his behalf, he was induced to transfer his Avondale estate to an unprincipled man who, it is said, did not render him the slightest compensation for it. Litigation followed and the sale was set aside. Some time after this a Greenville man was appointed his guardian. The Avondale property was sold about a year ago for $100,000. The rest of his property is still untouched. Armstrong has never married. His only heirs are his nephews and nieces, children of his sister, and nearly all of them live in Louisiana, not far from Wapello. Several years ago he was brought there and since then has lived at home with his niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Paris. He is subject to several harassing delusions, principal among which is a firm belief in witches. He sees them come into his room through small openings, such as keyholes, and is greatly bothered by them in various ways. He keeps the crevices in his room closely stopped and wears straps around his ankles to keep the witches from crawling up the legs of his pants.

DECEASED UNCLE SAM.

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST A POLITICIAN AND A WOMAN.

The Race War Explores—Burned Alive for His Brutality—Treasure Hunter—Stolen—Criminalities.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Sept. 3.—The Hon. Leo F. Wilson, a pension solicitor and the democratic representative of this county in the Legislature, was arrested here Monday by a deputy United States marshal charged with conspiracy with Mrs. Jane Fox to defraud the government out of a pension. Mrs. Fox was also arrested, and both were taken to Indianapolis for a hearing.

Wilson was employed by Mrs. Fox to get her restored to the pension rolls, her name having been stricken off on account of her second marriage. Wilson brought suit to have the marriage set aside, which court did. The matter was then certified to the pension department and Mrs. Fox's name was placed back on the rolls. Wilson says his arrest is for political purposes, and is one of a series of schemes to be worked by Republicans to secure control of the next Legislature in the interest of a certain high Republican official who is a candidate for United States Senator.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 3.—Lawyer Wilson and Mrs. Fox were released on furnishing $1,000 bail. It is charged that Mrs. Fox's second husband died and that she had never been married to Fox, and that three children had by Fox were illegitimate. Mrs. Fox, on being restored to the pension rolls, was given $1,200 back pension.

ALL QUIET IN MISSISSIPPI.

No More Trouble from the Blacks Feared—Peace in West Virginia.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 3.—Gov. Lowry arrived by special train from Greenwood this morning at 3 o'clock, having succumbed before he left in getting the armed whites who had assembled at Greenwood to return to their homes instead of going to the scene of the threatened race war. The three military companies that left Greenwood by boat last night at 12 o'clock have not been heard from, but it is not believed that there will be any conflict. A private dispatch from Greenwood was received here late this afternoon, which said: "All quiet here; troops still up the river." The Governor has been trying all day to get a negro leader, who arrived here last night, but without avail.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Every thing is quiet on the river. There was another lot of Winchester rifles shipped yesterday and trouble is not apprehended.

TWO LYNCHINGS IN ALABAMA.

Murderous Colored Burglars Slain in Bibb County.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 3.—Trouble is expected in Bibb county, about thirty miles south of this city, about three miles. Both have been in anticipation of trouble, which seems to have originated last November, when a battle occurred between a posse and a crowd of negroes; they tried to arrest without warrant. Several men were killed and wounded, and there has been bad feeling since. Matters were precipitated by the killing of John Lawrence by negro burglar and the lynching of two negroes suspected of the crime the following night. The white people are much alarmed, and many of them are sending their wives and children away.

HE BOASTS OF HIS CRIMES.

The Wisconsin Stage-Robber Untried by Threats of Lynching.

ISHERWOOD, Mich., Sept. 3.—Reinhold H. Hays, the Wisconsin stage robber, who has terrorized northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan for the past six months, has made a confession, if it can be called such, in which he unblushingly boasts of his crimes. He is admitting his robbing the Milwaukee Northern and Wisconsin Central roads, the Goebels stage and the Shawanos. His confession is apparently unshaken by his capture and he boasts that he will yet escape. Lynching was feared at Isherwood Monday morning, when he was to be taken from the train bringing him from Marquette, but beyond the noisy demonstrations of a large crowd there was nothing done or attempted.

Shot Until Both Fell.

VONITA, I. T., Sept. 3.—A shooting occurred at Table Springs which resulted in the death of two men named Moraine and Piskey. The shooting was between Moraine and Piskey of horse stealing. The two latter attempted to procure a retrial. The quarrel dated Sunday. Given and Moraine drew their revolvers and fired until both had fallen. Piskey, with a hammer, pounded Given's brains out. Moraine died shortly afterward. Piskey was arrested.

Forty Shots and Three Men Hurt.

REYNOLDS, Cal., Sept. 3.—Forty shots were fired last night in an affray between Cattle Inspector Joe Wyatt, United States Marshal Maxwell, John Miller, and five other men. Miller was shot in the leg and groin. Wyatt's attack was scratched by a bullet fired by Miller after he fell, and like Faustmann, who took no part in the fight, was seriously wounded. All of the fighters have been placed under $1,000 bonds. The fight grew out of a long-standing feud between Miller and Wyatt.

Burned to Death for His Crime.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 3.—The 12-year-old daughter of William Oates, a wealthy farmer of Wayne county, this State, was assassinated Saturday by a negro servant. As soon as the crime was made known a posse was organized and a search began for the negro. He was found and identified after some delay was placed in a trench. Dry rails were placed on him. At 10 being saturated with coal oil the rails were set on fire. The fiend was burned to a crisp.

Took a Whole Herd of Cattle.

NEVADO, Mo., Sept. 3.—Leo Griffin, T. J. Griffin, John Fritchard and James Howard were arrested today for the theft of four head of cattle from a pasture near Irving last night. The cattle were driven to Sheldon to be sold to a cattle buyer, who had his suspicions aroused as to the origin of the animals and informed the sheriff. T. J. Griffin was released on his own recognizance, but the others are in jail.

Two California Stages Robbed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 3.—Wells, Fargo & Co. received information today that two of their stages were robbed—one at Bodie and the other at Forest Hill, Cal. In both cases the highwaymen secured the treasure boxes containing a few hundred dollars, but did not molest the passengers. Officers are in pursuit of the robbers.

TODD'S.

"BURTON AND INDIA PALE ALBS" are acknowledged by judges to be superior to the Imported English Ales. They have the virtue of being strictly pure—nothing save malt and hops, and of the choicest quality, enters into their composition. Consequently all the nutritive tonic and restorative properties those ingredients are known to possess are found judiciously blended in these brands of ale.—Brewery east end Milwaukee street bridge.

LABOR DAY.

Magnificent Celebration by the Workingmen's Organizations of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Labor day was appropriately celebrated here Monday and the processions were a decided success. Two separate processions, marched, the Trades Assembly and the Knights of Labor not uniting in any way.

The largest procession was that of the Trade and Labor assembly, in which thousands of men marched to the music of numerous bands. The procession moved at 10:30 a. m. along Monroe street from Federal to the starting point, to Sangamon, to Erie, to Congress, to Chicago, to Wood street, to Division, to Robey, to Milwaukee avenue, and along that thoroughfare to Kuhn's park. This procession was over a mile long. The appearance presented by the members of the Typographical union, which led it, all of whom wore light-gray felt hats and long lined dusters, was especially fine. Each "chap" had his silk banner, held aloft by a proud standard-bearer.

The procession of the Knights of Labor formed on the West Side, moving along Jackson to Dearborn, to Lake, to Jefferson, to Adams, to the union depot, and was over a half mile in length.

IN NEW YORK.

It is Estimated That Nearly 20,000 People Were in Line.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The weather here Monday was suspicious for the celebration of Labor day. Business generally was suspended and the labor organizations and trades unions began forming in line at an early hour in the morning.

The streets were crowded with sight-seers, and the city presented quite an orderly appearance. This is the third celebration of Labor day since Gov. Hill signed the bill making the day a legal holiday. It is estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 people were in the procession.

ALL THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS WERE CLOSED.

The custom house was open for one hour in the morning to allow the clearance of vessels ready to sail. Flags were displayed from the custom house city hall, and all important points, and the shipping in the harbor was gayly decorated with bunting.

IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 3.—Labor day was celebrated in western Pennsylvania for the first time. Business was generally suspended, but the only public demonstration in this city was a parade of the United Carpenters and Joiners' brotherhood, in which about two thousand men participated.

Pieces were held by the Painters, Marble Cutters, Slate Roofers, and Tile Layers' unions, and were largely attended. At Greensburg the local labor organizations and the big procession, afterward held a monster meeting, at which addresses were made favoring the eight hour movement. In the coke region the works were generally closed, and a large mass meeting was held at Scottdale.

A Big Procession at Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 3.—The observance of Labor day was more general in Boston than in the past two years. Business was entirely suspended. The weather was cloudy and cool, and the big procession, which was the feature of the forenoon, was viewed by thousands who crowded the sidewalks and windows along the route.

IN THE COAL REGION.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 3.—Labor day was very generally observed throughout this region. The collieries were nearly all shut down, and all industrial establishments here suspended work.

BEEF AND TRANSPORTATION.

The Select Senatorial Committee Taking Evidence.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Senator George G. Vest of Missouri, and Sen. Cole of Texas and Senator Charles Farwell of this city, of the select Senatorial committee on dressed beef products and transportation facilities, held two meetings of their committee at the Grand Pacific hotel. The drift of the evidence was to the effect that the beef killing industry is being monopolized by Chicago, and butchers all through the East and South are supplied with Chicago meat and but few live cattle are being purchased by butchers.

The Union Label of No Value.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 3.—In the United States Circuit court Judge Thayer rendered a decision that the counterfeiting of the union label used on cigars can not be prevented or punished. The ruling will affect the cigarmakers' organization in the United States and Canada, it is claimed, very seriously, as it practically decides that their label is of no value whatever.

Fever on a Warship.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 3.—Another apprentice boy on the United States warship New Hampshire, the third in less than a week, died today of typhoid fever. The ship authorities have ordered tents and blankets, to enable the boys to camp out on the sand while the ship is being disinfected.

Will Have to Work Ten Hours.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 3.—General orders were issued from headquarters to put all men at the Mt. Clare shops of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, numbering from 900 to 1,000, on a shift of ten hours, beginning to-day. The working time of the employees was reduced to ten hours a day some time ago.

Appointed by the President.

DEER PARK, Md., Sept. 3.—President Harrison has made two more appointments: George D. Eaton of Montana, surveyor-general of Montana, and John Little of Ohio commissioner on behalf of the United States in the Venezuelan claims commission. The latter has accepted.

Wyoming Constitutional Convention.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 3.—The convention to frame a State constitution for Wyoming met in the capital to-day and effected a temporary organization by the election of H. S. Elliott of Johnson county president, and John K. Jeffery of Laramie county secretary.

Cattle Dying in Illinois.

CARTRIDGE, Ill., Sept. 3.—Cattle are dying in the vicinity of Dallas City, Hancock county, of strange diseases. They become stiff in the hindquarters and suddenly drop to the ground, dying in great agony.

Mrs. Parnell Slowly Dying.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Della Stewart Parnell is slowly dying of old age and its attendant infirmities at Bordentown, N. J. The doctors say that her days are fast coming to a close.

A Flat Fight in a Governor's Office.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 3.—The Governor's private secretary, Mr. Harrison, and Mr. Humphreys, a member of the Legislature, came to blows in the Governor's office to-day, drawing blood.

am very subject, I take a dose of Ayer's

Pills and am always promptly relieved.

I find them equally beneficial in colds;

and, in my family, they are used for bilious complaints and other disturbances with such good effect that we rarely if ever have to call a physician. J. H.
